DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

2. Claim 23 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 23, "the stator" (line 6) and "the rotor" (line 7) lack antecedent basis.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

4. Claims 12-15, 19 and 20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Budzich (4,353,559).

Budzich discloses an apparatus and method for providing a seal between first and second relatively rotatable parts of a mechanism wherein pulverulent material is entrained in a fluid. A first element 60 is mounted on the stationary part, and a second element 62 is mounted on the rotating part. The first and second elements define a labyrinth seal; projections and recesses on the elements have interfacing surfaces defining a passage (see Fig. 4). The pulverulent material enters the passage and is deposited in layers (see col. 3, lines 17-30), thus making the passage smaller and restricting flow of the fluid.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

6. Claims 16-18 and 21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Budzich.

Budzich does not disclose dimensions for the clearance between the surfaces, that the ratio of the clearance to the minimum diameter of the passage is not less than 1:150, or that the ratio of the length of the passage to the minimum diameter is not less than 1:2. Forming the clearance, length, and diameter within these ranges is considered a design choice. It is not considered inventive to discover the workable or optimum ranges through routine experimentation. See In re Aller, 105 USPQ 233, 235 (CCPA 1955). Therefore, it would have been obvious for one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to form the clearance not less than 0.4mm, to form the ratio of the clearance to the minimum diameter of the passage not less than 1:150, and to form the ratio of the length of the passage to the minimum diameter not less than 1:2 as a matter of choice in design.

Allowable Subject Matter

7. Claim 22 is objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

8. Claim 23 would be allowable if rewritten to overcome the rejection(s) under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, set forth in this Office action and to include all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

9. The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter: the prior art of record, taken as a whole, does not show nor suggest the combination of limitations required by the claims. The prior art does not disclose an apparatus having first and second elements between which an annular passage is formed that are rotatable with respect to one another and have interfacing surfaces forming a clearance wherein, when the apparatus is in use, pulverulent material entrained in a fluid enters the passage and is deposited in layers to restrict flow of the fluid and wherein a first member or second and third members are located in the passage and are made of material susceptible to wear such that there is a clearance so that the first can move radially and axially and/or the third can move radially as required by the claims.

Conclusion

10. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. The cited prior art discloses various labyrinth seals used in environments with particulate matter.
